This is not your typical golf tips and advice website where you'd find common-place golf tips that any old man from your country club could give you.

This isn't like any other golfing website out there giving you old re-packaged tips and advice that have outlived their usefulness. If you want to impress your friends with some tricks, or some golf games to play with your friends, then move on, this site is NOT for you.

On this website, you will find the most advanced technology to triple your confidence in putting, sink all your short putts and make your buddies pay up their bets.

But with knowledge comes responsibility, and this information should definitely be handled with extreme care.

My name is David, and I teach golfers of all levels to sink short putts with absolute confidence and eliminate ANY doubt, anxiety or nervousness that is associated with missing short putts.

If you want to sink almost all your putts under 6 feet with confidence, cure your yips (with super speed) and cut at least 5 shots off your handicap, then read the rest of this page carefully and the answers will be obvious to you!

Do You Get Incredibly Nervous When You Step Over a Pressure Putt or When Your Buddies Are Watching You?

Well, you know what? Thank the lord that you have just landed on this page. Because you are going to discover ways to eliminate all these symptoms associated with bad putting.

(Especially when I have a 5 foot putt to halve the club championship match, everyone is greenside watching and my hands start to shake...
